

Another threat to Home Rule? New state zoning law worries Planning Board

What could be another threat to the concept of Home Rule has suddenly become The Big Threat, to members of the Wilmington Planning Board.

Chapter 808 of the Acts of 1975 was signed by Governor Dukakis on December 22, 1975. It is a new law, with a new and totally different set of provisions for zoning, in Massachusetts.

There was an emergency preamble to that law. An emergency preamble means that it immediately became law, without having to go through a ninety day waiting period.

The members of the Planning Board and the Building Inspector listened to a discussion of Chapter 808 by Roger Worth, Tuesday evening. Mr. Worth in the Planning Intern for the board, and had attended a discussion the previous Saturday, in Framingham, about the new law.

Chairman Bill Hooper had more information about the law. He had been talking with the Town Counsel.

As it was interpreted Tuesday, the new law takes effect in June 1978, all over Massachusetts, unless any community has a change in its present zoning by-law before then. If there is such a change, then Chapter 808 takes over, and becomes the law of the community.

The board members were not happy at the prospects. There are four proposed zoning changes, in the warrant for the March Town Meeting. If any of those zoning changes should be voted, the effect will be - or so the Planning Board believes, to wipe out the present zoning by law and substitute instead the law as it is expressed in Chapter 808.

The Planning Board does not completely understand the provisions of Chapter 808. It was dismayed at the prospect of having adopted a law which it does not understand.

Arthur Harding, former chairman, stated the case when he said "We do not need Chapter 808 at this time". There was no dissent.

Change in concept

The new law seems to be the results of work by Prof. Rykman of Boston University and Prof. Charles Elliot of Cambridge.

Professor Rykman is the author of a brilliant analysis of present day zoning. Professor Elliot is well known in Wilmington. He is a former consultant to the Wilmington Planning Board.

The new law seems to have a change in zoning concept, as it is understood by the people of Massachusetts. It had been described as putting an emphasis on special results, and of prohibiting the use of variances. Variances are the means by which the Board of Appeals may allow a land owner to do things otherwise prohibited, such as, for instance, install a swimming pool on his property.

One of the criticisms of Chapter

808 is that there is an erosion of property rights, for the individual. The former dimensional concept of zoning is said to have been eradicated.

The former Board of Appeals is being replaced, the story goes, by a Board of Review, appointed by the Planning Board. If this is true, the Board of Review it can be argued, would not be independent of Planning Board control, which is the basis of the present Board of Appeals.

Planning Board alarm

What the Planning Board members seemed to fear, Tuesday night, was a complete new set of planning regulations in Wilmington which would do away with the present regulations. The net result, the members felt, would be chaos.

A couple of years ago, one member remembered, Planned Unit Development was proposed, in Town Meeting, in Wilmington. The proposal was made on recommendation of Prof. Elliot, who was a consultant to Wilmington at that time.

Better known by its acronym, PUD, Planned Unit Development is a concept in which houses, or homes and other buildings, can be built as a unit, with perhaps the fields and open spaces in back, to be enjoyed by all. It has been tried by some Massachusetts communities.

In Wilmington the subject never got off the Town Meeting floor. The voters just were not interested.

But if there is any change in zoning, as a result of the coming Town Meeting, those changes probably will mean that Chapter 808 immediately becomes the law of the town, and the PUD concept, among others, also becomes the law of the town.

The Planning Board is searching for means to prevent any zoning changes, in the coming March town meeting.

It feels that Chapter 808 should be studied before it becomes the law of Wilmington.

Installation Sunday of the Rev. Everett Reed

Services in the First Baptist Church, Wilmington on Sunday evening, will be held for the installation of the Rev. Everett F. Reed as pastor of the church. The services will be at 6 p.m. and there is to be a reception at 7.

The Rev. Reed is a graduate of Barrington College, and has been pastor of a church in Russell, Mass. Recently, while pursuing his studies at the Gordon-Cumell Theological Seminary, he has been assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church in Winchester.

He and his wife Carol have three children. She is a teacher in the Wakefield school system.

Tour South

Four residents of Essex St., Wilmington have returned home following an extended three week tour of the "deep south." Among other places Barbara and Roy Brogan and Dot and Frank Darling visited Gordon, Alabama where they stopped at the home of Mrs. Brogan's son (Rick Carlson, formerly of Essex St., and a graduate of WBS) and family. Mr. Brogan's son Roy Jr. and family of Orlando, Florida and his daughter Mrs. Lorraine Toussaint (formerly of Reading) and family of Pensacola.

Forest Street will be like Hopkins Street?

The discussions of the planning of a sidewalk - a public hearing - resumed Tuesday evening, in the Town Hall. The selectmen spent several hours discussing land, curves and other items with about 30 abutting land owners. The net result was a 16 to 9 vote that only one side of Forest Street be laid out, for the sidewalk.

Arthur Harding, former town engineer, and now a member of the Planning Board, had his comment, when he heard of it at the Planning Board meeting.

It reminded him, he said, of the time that Hopkins Street was laid out just before the new Shawsheen School was built. It was about a half dozen years ago.

As Town Engineer he had done the work for the proposal of the road. Twice the selectmen and the residents discussed the proposal, and twice they made changes, which he had to re-do, as Town Engineer.

Then, when the State and County engineers got going on the project, which was a Chapter 90 project, they just took more land than he (Harding) had originally proposed.

Tax rate up $3 - 5 prediction Fincom says town dump is most serious problem

The annual letter to the voters of Wilmington, now being composed by members of the Finance Committee, will tell the voters that the most serious problem which will be discussed in the coming Town Meeting will be that of the Town Dump.

The Finance Committee will urge the voters to consider the problem very seriously. It hopes that the voters will support whatever action is deemed necessary and beneficial to the town as a whole. The most rational method, members of the Finance Committee say, will be to consider the use of town owned land, property previously acquired by the town. The town, they will say should use that property owned by the town and found to be "most suitable."

It does not seem that the Finance Committee will recommend any one site over another, other than to say that it must have been previously owned by the town.

$3 - 5 increase

A few weeks ago Wilmington's Town Manager predicted a $3 increase in the tax rate for the coming 1976-77 year.

Wilmington's Finance Committee is going to predict a $3 to $5 tax increase, and will blame inflation and the impact of collective bargaining by town employees for that increase.

The present rate is $64 per thousand valuation. If the Finance Committee predictions and recommendations are followed the rate for 1976-77 will presumably be between $67 and $69.

School department
This year the members of the Finance Committee are happy about the co-operation of the school department, and of other department heads, in their efforts to keep down costs.

FinCom members have said the school department, which represents the major cost of the town has been responsible for "high level management."

Shawsheen Tech

The attitude of the Wilmington Finance Committee, while favorable to the Wilmington Schools, seems to be contrary to Shawsheen Tech this year. The members say that Shawsheen Tech High School - located in Billerica and supported by five towns of which Wilmington is one - has not been responsive to the financial plights of the five towns which support it.

The voters of Wilmington will be asked to reduce the Wilmington appropriation by $85,000, for Shawsheen Tech.

Clara Tubby, candidate Republican State Committee

The Republican State Committee?

Who needs it? What is it? What difference does it make for you?

As a matter of fact it does make a difference. It is the on-going voice of the opposition, minority party in a state that has become almost a Democratic stronghold.

Miss Clara F. Tubby of 39 Clover Street, Belmont is seeking re-election to the Republican State Committee from a rather incongruous, far flung district.

If you live in Bedford, Belmont, (Precinct 2 and 3); Burlington, Carlisle, Chelmsford, Lexington, (Precinct 4, 6, 7, 8 and 9); Lincoln, Waltham (Wards 2, 3 and 4) and Wilmington, and intend to vote in the Republican Presidential primary on March 2, you will have a choice, an important choice.

The Committee to re-elect Clara Tubby, Mr. Daniel Needham, Jr., Belmont; Carl Cincotta, Waltham; Marianne Brenton, Burlington; Lulu Sanborn of Wilmington and Stephen Coan of Lincoln urges you to vote and to re-elect a State Committeewoman who has been there when it counted.

Clara Tubby is a Republican, imaginative, effective, constant in carrying out the nuts and bolts of Republican politics. She has no ideological hangups. She supported Goldwater, Saltonstall, Brooke, Volpe, Richardson, Buckley, Sargent. All of those who carried the Republican banner. She is steeped in the mechanics of town government (a Town Meeting member in Belmont since 1960) is

The other side of Gun Control

Wilmington Rotary was presented, on Feb. 18th, with "The Other Side" of Gun Control Laws. The speaker was Patrick Alessi, president of the Cooper Scientific firm of Watertown, and a member of the Gun Owners Action League (GOAL).

The proposed law, absolutely banning hand guns, he said, will penalize law abiding persons, and not penalize the criminals.

Law abiding persons, who get permits to carry pistols, have to be photographed and there are finger prints. There is a strict enquiry and there are strict regulations on the carrying of those guns.

There are many persons who have this need. Physicians were one class he mentioned, as well as people who have to live alone. Their need is legitimate.

The real issue, Alessi said, is the Crime Rate. Criminals are not deterred by the laws, and yet a person who carries a gun without a permit is a law breaker, and can be arrested.

What is going to happen, he asked, after they disarm the citizen, while the criminal still carries guns?

The answer, Alessi said, is that the crime rate will continue to rise.

His organization supports mandatory sentencing of persons convicted of using a gun in the commission of a felony.

(next column)

Three Questions

Currently there are three questions of interest, regarding the sentiment of those who live in this community. This column has not attempted to make a survey, and has no such intention, but it has made some observations, which may possibly be of interest.

First there is the question of forced bussing, in the schools of the Commonwealth. This is a "gut" issue in parts of Boston. The situation there can be described as explosive.

Recently some school and other officials of Wilmington discussed the forced bussing issue, after a regular meeting. By no means could the discussion be described as "racist."

The sentiment was against forced bussing because it had been shown that the education of the young people has been disrupted.

The money that is being spent in police work, and extra bussing, was deplored. It should be spent for educational purposes, the participants of that discussion felt. The extra millions of dollars being spent was millions of dollars being wasted.

Such a sentiment, perhaps not as well expressed, can be reported among the people of this town. A recent survey in Massachusetts showed 75 per cent of those surveyed were against forced bussing. The same proportion seems to exist in Wilmington.

Politically, at this time, a dozen or so persons are vying for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States. There has been very little participation among the residents of this town. A few comments have been heard, all to be described as "Scattered."

Among the officials, curiously enough, there seems to be a Carter sentiment. The writer knows of probably 10 officials who have said they favor the Georgia ex-governor. Three members of the Democratic Town Committee have so described themselves. They are, of course, less than 10 per cent of that committee.

The officials seem to be expressing a sentiment. It will be interesting to see how the ordinary person feels, as will be shown in the March primary.

The third question of interest is that of subsidized housing, proposed in East Wilmington, a result of the so-called Snob Zoning law. Of Wilmington's more than 8,000 voters 1,000 have signed a petition against that housing. Some of those signatures reflect certain fears on the part of the signatories.

This column was in favor of the housing. The developer had adequate safeguards to guard against slum conditions. The young people of Wilmington have never had a chance for proper housing, as expressed in the Zoning Bylaws of this town.

Now, there is no money, and the town meeting is to be asked to buy the land, in March.

Will those who are against the concept of apartment housing in that area be willing to put up more than $100 thousand, to further express their sentiments? It could be an interesting part of the town meeting.

James Francis and Hydraulic Power

The Moses Greeley lecture series, in Lowell, in the Memorial Auditorium, will present Sunday at 2 pm a lecture on James Francis and Hydraulic Power in Lowell. The lecture starts at 2 pm.

Dr. Patrick Malone, the lecturer, is the director of the old Slater Mill museum in Rhode Island, and a professor at Brown University.

He is to present the fascinating story of James B. Francis, and his work in the early history of Lowell. Mr. Francis was one of America's greatest hydraulic engineers, and one of the more significant engineers of the nineteenth century.

Francis was the Chief Engineer of the Locks and Canals in Lowell, and he helped to develop the complex power system of that city. He also increased the scientific reputation of America, in international circles, by authoring a technical study entitled "Lowell's Hydraulic Experiments". His technical expertise saved Lowell from severe damage in two great floods, and helped to provide the industrial power which made that city famous.

The talk will be illustrated with slides of both Lowell engineering sites, and drawings from the Locks and Canals archives.

The doors open at 1:30 pm. Children under 14 must be accompanied by an adult.

Children's movies at the Library

The following children's movies will be shown at Wilmington Memorial Library.

Thurs. Feb. 19: 3:45 to 4:30, ages eight through 11: "Queer Birds," "The Red Balloon" and "The Calypso Singer."

Fri. Feb. 20: 3:45 to 4:15 p.m., ages five through eight: "How to Build an Igloo," "Spunky the Snowman" and "The Story of King Midas."

Thurs. Feb. 26: 3:45 to 4:30 p.m., ages eight through 11: "Roy: Sheep Dog of the Scottish Highlands," "The Musical Pig" and "Siu Mei Wong - Who Shall I Be?"

He was not in favor of the Bartley - Fox Act of 1974, which mandates a year in prison for the ownership of, or carrying a gun. He drew particular attention to the fact that the Bartley - Fox Act does not require the registration of firearms.

GOAL - Gun Owners Action League, is an association of law abiding citizens, who believe in the basic right of firearms ownership, under the law, for sport, recreation and self protection.

The organization has its headquarters at 11 Main Street, in Southboro, Mass.

Cub Scout Pack 136

The monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 136 was held at American Legion Hall in Wilmington February 3.

The theme of the month was "Tournament" and the den's displayed fine exhibits of colorful and well made swords, helmets, shields, daggers, maces, castles and coats of mail. The Cub Scouts dressed as knights and were wonderfully representative of the days when tournaments were a common occurrence. The bold knights held a mock battle with a dragon which was promptly slain and added a bit of humor to the exhibits.

Winners of the exhibits awards were: Den One, first place; Den Five, second place and Den Four, third place.

The following awards were presented:

Wolf

William O'Donnell, card, badge, one gold and one silver arrowpoint; Daniel Rinaldi, card, badge, one gold arrowpoint; Paul Krzeminski, card, badge, one gold arrowpoint; William Fontaine, four silver arrowpoints; David Crowley, one silver arrowpoint; Derick Carpenter, one gold arrowpoint.

Bear

Richard Jackson, card, badge, two silver arrowpoints under wolf badge; Jeffrey DeJogn, card and badge; Steven Schmitt, four silver arrowpoints.

The cubmaster presented Wolf badges to Stephen Wright, Billy McHugh and David Dispersio. Brian Davis was awarded the Bear badge for completing the required achievements. Gold arrow points signifying the completion of 10 electives were given to Ricky Molander and David Dispersio, who also received two silver arrow points for additional electives. Championship wrestling at WHS

Wilmington High School will be the scene of a championship wrestling program on Tuesday February 24, with a five match card getting underway at 8 p.m.

The Mexican Heavyweight Champion, Francisco Flores, will risk his title against the powerful, 401 pound, Crusher Blackwell.

Florence, Italy's Dynamite Dominic DeNucci, will oppose Louis - "The Youkon Kid" Cyr.

Fast moving, youthful Kevin Sullivan, will take on the always dangerous, Davey O'Hannon.

The 8 p.m. opening match will see Irish Pat McGuinness meeting the wild man from South America, Vincente Pometti.

Advance tickets, at popular prices, are now on sale at Winston Coffee Shop and at the High School.

Have some fun at Winter Carnival

For the 2,000 youngsters who attended the Winter Carnival in Wilmington last year, the time has come again to have some fun. Beginning February 23 to 28, the Winter Carnival will conduct a series of events that will give a lot of joy and competition to every person.

Each year the Music Department, Student Council and each class get together and plan a series of events that will interest students, teachers and parents.

The prices set up for each event will vary and will be just enough to cover expenses. A great deal of money is not needed by prospective participants.

The money that is made from the Winter Carnival will be added to the scholarship funds as was done last year.

Events and prizes will include: On February 24, faculty versus student basketball, $1.00; depending on the state's games, on the 25th, student versus faculty hockey with only a donation asked for admission. The bowling price will be just enough to pay for strings.

On the 26th, wrestling, price $3.00 grandstand and $4.00 ringside. Friday night Jazz Rock concert, price $1.00.

On the 27th a movie, price $1.00; Saturday night, roller skating, price $2.50 including bus fair.

On the 28th, there will be a cross country ski event with the Outward Bound Club.

Most afternoon events will begin at three o'clock and most evening events start at seven.

The Wilmington High School hockey squad has two reasons for holding their heads high after last week. One, they played an absolutely brilliant game against Billerica only to lose. Two, they qualified for the Eastern Mass. Scholastic Tournament with a 4-2 win over Methuen High.

At the end of the week the Wildcats had moved into third place with a record of 12-4-2.

Wednesday, Feb. 11: Fans who attended the game at Billerica's Hellenberg Rink certainly got their money's worth as Wilmington played one of its best games of the season only to lose to the powerful Indians 5-4. Goalkeeper Paul Crescitelli was immense for the Wildcats. Paul made 28 saves, many of which were of the either you do or you don't variety. The Wildcats stayed close by using good forechecking, solid body checking, and great goaltending.

Wilmington battled to a 2-2 tie in the first period on scores by Mike Carlin and Bob Olsen. Billerica's Bob Johansen put his team up 3-2 early in the second period, but the Wildcats weren't through battling just yet. After an exchange of mind-boggling saves by the opposing netminders the underdog Wildcats broke through to tie.

Senior Mike Gracia beat Indian keeper Randy Williams' high to tie it at 3-3 and an upset was a possibility.

Gordie Fitch stunned the Indians when he fired in a score from a tough angle to give WHS a 4-3 second period lead. The Wildcats seemed worn down by Billerica's depth as Wilmington had trouble mounting an offense in period three.

Crescitelli held the fort however and a win was still possible due to the WHS defensive effort. Wilmington received a scare when a long slapshot almost snuck by Crescitelli. Brian Russell tied the game for the charging Indians and Paul Miller came up with another big goal to disappoint Wilmington.

The Billerica depth and third period penalties helped to wear down the gutsy Wildcats who fell despite a great team effort.

Saturday, Feb. 14: The Wildcats gained a tournament berth with a surprisingly tough 4-2 win over first year MVHL club Methuen. Coming off the great Billerica game WHS was due for a let-down, but managed to survive long enough to nail that tournament berth down.

Fitch tallied the first Wildcat goal following a steal. Gordie scored just two minutes later to make it 2-0 as it looked like easy pickings for the cats.

Ranger goaltender Steve Daigle made several fine stops in this game and received support on goals by Art Soucy and Mike Hovnanian. Co-captain Dan Burns put Wilmington up 3-1 before the Rangers began a minor comeback.

Fine Wilmington performances were turned in by Fitch and defenseman Paul McMahon and Tom McNamara. Ranger defenseman Rick Angus was solid for the losers.

Meet the Wildcats

by Joe Brooks

This week in the "Meet the Wildcats" column we are presenting Mike Carlin.

Mike Carlin, in his first year of varsity high school hockey, isn't doing too badly for himself. In his rookie year, thus far, Mike's been playing hard hockey, starting at the position of right wing. "We have an excellent chance of making the state tournament, but we can't afford any more losses," Mike said, after being asked about the predictions for the season. "I feel we have the talent to knock off Austin and Billerica if we play good two way hockey, lots of hard skating and good passing. I also believe that the so-called 'inexperienced' players have helped a lot in the team's success thus far.

The term "inexperienced" was inappropriate for the sophomores. Granted, we did lack high school experience, but as far as hockey experience our credentials speak for themselves. We (the sophomores) won six consecutive championships from Pee-Wee through Bantam hockey in league play. We finished third in the state last year along with a championship in the Merrimack College Tournament and second in the Edgewood cup in Rhode Island."

Sferrazza just misses

Wildcat track ace Bobby Sferrazza just missed winning the Class C title in the 50 yard dash in the State Track finals last weekend. Bob was barely beaten out by Dartmouth's Lance Martin.

Wilmington picked up 10 points in the Reading meet with Sferrazza's second place accounting for eight of them.

Wilmington's other two points came from Keith Roueche who finished fifth in the 600.

Melrose scored three goals in the first period before Wilmington's John Fahey scored an unassisted goal to end the first period Melrose, 3-1 Wilmington, 1.

Wilmington, forced into playing a defensive game, and with no fresh skaters, tired quickly and was unable to hold back the Melrose attack. Melrose scored twice in the second period, and twice more in the third.

Kevin Surette, called up to take the place of the regular Wilmington netminder, played a strong game and made many difficult saves.

Bantam A

Wilmington outshot Stoneham last Thursday, 35-32, but had to settle for a 4-4 tie. Stoneham scored in the second minute of play on a power play, but 18 seconds later, Dennis Foley redirected Paul Boudreau's shot past the Stoneham goaltender to tie the game. Dave LaLiberte assisted. Stoneham moved out in front two minutes later. In the second period Dana Kidd picked up a loose puck in the corner two minutes later.

In the second period Dana Kidd picked up a loose puck in the corner and set up Paul Boudreau in the slot to tie the game again. A minute later Stoneham scored to make it 3-2, but with 25 seconds left in the second period, Rich Robinson, sent away by Tim McCann, split the defense and beat the goaltender with a good fake to tie it again.

Midway through the final period Stoneham took a 4-3 lead, but with 30 seconds left on the clock, Steve Mickle culminated a rink-length rush with a ringing slap shot under the cross bar for the final score. Foley received the assist.

Uncommitted Democrats elect slate

A caucus of uncommitted Democrats met in North Reading Sunday and elected a slate of delegates for the upcoming primary elections in March.

The Fifth Congressional District Uncommitted Caucus met in the old Grange Hall on North Reading Common and elected a slate headed by Bedford residents, but dominated by North Reading people.

Approximately 75 Democrats participated to elect Theresa Theobald, Patricia Pellegrini, and James Rogers of Bedford and Klaus Kubierschky, Barbara Meshna, Bob Schoolcraft, and Joe Gracy of North Reading as delegates. The alternates were Alex Kidaloski, Lowell; Lois Pulliam, Bedford; Mrs. Gerry Giesler, North Reading; and Emmanuel Frangos, North Reading.

Immediately following the caucus, the delegation met to elect a chairman, discuss strategy and set plans into motion. Mrs. Theobald, Chairman of the delegation, discussed the need to inform the uncommitted voter that a "No Preference" slot exists on the March 2 Presidential Primary Ballot. "No one who is committed to a candidate should fail to cast his or her vote for that candidate, but the many voters who continue to remain undecided should consider casting a ballot for 'No Preference' at the ballot box," stated Mrs. Theobald.

The Fifth District uncommitted delegates agree that they are committed to nominating a candidate who will lead the Democrats to victory in November. They admit that at this time no candidate on the ballot has exhibited the unifying leadership necessary for victory. Either one of the present candidates will emerge as the standard bearer or another yet undeclared candidate will come forward to carry the Democrats to victory.

Members of the delegation are available to discuss their positions and the procedures for voting. For more information, contact any member of the delegation.

Beat of a drum

A traditional drum roll accompanied Pat Nutt's entrance into K of C Hall last Thursday evening for the Senior Citizen Sweetheart Ball in Wilmington.

Pat, a resident of Main Street was recently released from Choate Hospital where as a patient, her greatest worry was that she might have to forego the ball to which she had been looking forward for several months. She has missed very few local senior citizen activities and is among the most frequent "drop ins" at the Drop-in Center.

A Renaissance Man is the word for Leon Chemlin

LEON (Far right) and members of the Butters family at the Bicentennial Ball. Gertrude Condry, next to Leon, holds a replica of the Baldwin Apple monument, presented by Leon.

The Wilmington Bicennial Ball, held at the Hanscom AFB NCO Club on January 30, was a tremendous event. There were a number of persons who made important contributions to its success. One of them is a man named Leon Chemlin.

Mr. Chemlin is TIRAS Marketing Manager for Dynamics Research Corporation of Wilmington. He represents his company well. He is a person who might be compared to the Renaissance Man - inquisitive, intelligent, and with an intense and sincere interest in the things around him. He has made many friends.

As previously reported, Lee Chemlin adopted the Wilmington Baldwin Apple Monument as a symbol to better identify his company and its Wilmington location with his customers in the U.S. Navy and U.S. Air Force. Since the apple is also sometimes referred to as the Pecker Apple, Chemlin carried things a step further and formed the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Pecker Apple Tree. He made cast aluminum replicas of the monument. When a person is sworn in as a knight of the Order, the new knight receives a replica as his or her symbol of office. As a symbol, Wilmington's Monument has served both Lee and his company well.

The idea that Chemlin came up with, relative to the Bicentennial Ball, was the presentation of monuments of knighthood to representatives of the Butters family, the family who developed the Baldwin apple, several hundred years ago. It was a grand idea. Chemlin said that he expected Mrs. Condry, Mrs. Kinney and Ann Butters to join in the debate with the other female knights on whether or not the Rules Committee may continue to refer to them as knightpersons.

At this moment Mr. Chemlin has several projects, one of which can be recognized by many people resident in Middlesex County.

Carl Velleca is an inmate of Concord, a correctional institution. He is running for the position of Selectman, in Concord. The laws today allow this.

The first that was heard of Carl was in the Concord Patriot, on January 22. Mary Lorain Heaton was the lady who wrote the story. It was well written.

Velleca is serving two sentences in Concord. He was, in some way, implicated in the theft of a Paul Revere silver collection from Phillips Academy in Andover. Mr.

Velleca says he helped the police recover the silver, and then was arrested. He was sentenced to five to seven years on the Phillips Andover thing.

The second sentence comes from the robbery of a barbotte game, in Lawrence. Twenty-five men were robbed by a gunman. That gunman was not Velleca. The gunman was sentenced to five to seven years.

Velleca was accused of furnishing the key that allowed the gunman to get into the building. He was sentenced to a term of 15 to 25 years.

Velleca is bitter, in a way about this. He points out that on that same day, in Germany, an ex-Nazi was found guilty of the murder of 600 Jews and received a sentence of 20 years. To hear of something like this is to arouse the instincts of Leon Chemlin. He has now put himself in the corner of Carl Velleca, and, as Chemlin does things, it is not a passive action.

Carl, for a prison inmate, is a very accessible individual. He has earned the status of trusty and runs the gift shop in the lobby of the prison. If he should be elected a Selectman, he would be more accessible than someone, working for instance, in a Boston office.

Carl lives outside the gates in the Honor House and can leave the prison from time to time, because of his earned furlough time.

On February 10 CBS taped a show on Carl in the historic Colonial Inn in Concord. It appeared as a part of the Walter Cronkite show on Thursday, February 12.

Sitting in the corner, behind Carl Velleca, was a man named Leon Chemlin.

Yes, that's the man who works for Dynamics Research, and who has taken the Baldwin Apple Monument under his wing.

There are many more stories that can be told about Chemlin. He is one of those persons with many ideas. But the reader now knows who he is - and if Carl Velleca should become a Selectman of Concord, the reader can guess that the sales manager from Dynamics Research had a part in that election.

Chemlin, too, has his comments about the recent destructive riot at the Concord Reformatory. "This is precisely why I am involved," he said. "I want to know and understand why these things happen. Only if we understand can we even hope to prevent similar occurrences in the future."

A Northeast Business Association?

A call was made, Monday evening, for the establishment of a Northeast Business Association, which would include business and manufacturing establishments in the Merrimack Valley area, and perhaps in other parts of the New England states.

The leading speaker was Paul McAskill of Tewksbury. The meeting was held in the Holiday Inn in Tewksbury. There were about 43 businessmen present, from Middlesex and Essex communities, and from southern New Hampshire.

Mr. McAskill, who is president of the Tewksbury Business Association, was one of three Tewksbury men at the head table. Also present and participating were three men from the Westford Business Association.

Representatives from five Chambers of Commerce were present in an observer status.

McAskill had a gloomy picture to paint, before he made his proposal. We are in a hell of a mess, he told his listeners. Massachusetts has become the Mecca for social evils. The state budget has increased 900 per cent, and in one year alone it has increased more than it was, as a total, 16 years ago. One out of every 2.7 persons is on welfare - 33 per cent. Half the budget is devoted exclusively to welfare items.

McAskill spoke of hundreds of business and manufacturing firms moving to other states - of the closing of the Boston Navy Yard, the Chelsea Naval Hospital, Westford Air Force Base and the Watertown Arsenal, and now the threatened closing of Fort Devens.

The political leaders, he said, are long on promises but short on producing. They are bringing in new regulations, increased compensation rates, new rules. There are new rules from local building inspectors, rules which ignore,

McAskill had a few words to say about Tewksbury schools - which run for 180 days a year, and each one costs us over $1 million. The new budget, he said, is up nine percent. The members of the school board and the selectmen congratulated the superintendent because it was only up nine per cent.

Go back and talk to your associations, he told the persons who were present - see if we can form an association that the legislature will listen to - an association with 125 thousand votes.

He set a date of three weeks, for responses from the various towns represented. And, he said, if there is no businessman's association in a town, one can be formed. Any five persons can get together and start a movement of this type. McAskill hopes they will.

The goal of the association, said Bill Cole of Tewksbury, was to call on fiscal responsibility, by the state. "It is not our business to attack the officials - but it was to attract into the organization every productive taxpayer in Massachusetts."

He proposed that representatives of the towns present, through their own associations, have one member of the board of directors of the Northeastern Association.

Your participation, he said "will guarantee that your voice will be heard at the state level."

"When you have a paid lobbyist he is speaking, and compromising. I don't think that the Board of Directors will be engaging in trades or deals," directly or indirectly the fact that all revenues ultimately come from business.

The hand that feeds us, he said, is being mangled. There are new laws, new zoning laws; new sign bylaws. The government reacts to pressure sure - even when 20 or 30 radicals parade in front of the state house!

It was McAskill's point that the businessmen had abdicated their position of leadership. Another point he stressed was that the Selectmen's Association is powerless. Legislation that association proposes, he said, does not get passed by the legislature. How many times do you really think the selectmen are sincere? They pass budgets which each year get bigger and bigger. I feel in many instances they are just going through the motions. "The selectmen's association has accomplished nothing."

Open House Sunday at the Harnden Tavern

The family of Dr. Silas Brown, which for several generations owned and lived in the Harnden Tavern in North Wilmington, were frugal persons. They raised their own sheep, spun their own wool and weaved the cloth that went into their clothing.

The carding and spinning of wool from flax is to be featured as a part of the Open House at the Harnden Tavern, Sunday, from one to four p.m. Mrs. Ellen Raja, a Lincoln resident, who owns a flock of sheep, and shears the wool, spins it, and dyes it, will, with two associates, exhibit the art of carding and spinning for the visitors.

Local High School history students, directed by Steve O'Brien, history teacher, will have a slide demonstration of local history. Mrs. Ruth Filipowicz is to have a demonstration of Colonial quilting. There is to be an art exhibit arranged by Miss Pat Stanceau, school art supervisor.

Room hostess and guides, in period costumes, will be provided by the ladies of the Wilmington Women's Club. Colonial herbal teas, in several varieties, will be offered for tasting by Mrs. Jane Hill and other ladies of the Wilmington Company of Minutemen. The teas are of the varieties used by the Colonials in protest against the Stamp Act.

Col. Joshua Harnden, according to the Wilmington Historical Commission, purchased the tavern in 1773, and lived there until his death in 1807. During the Revolution he served in the Militia, and in 1780 he was a member of a committee appointed to consider and report to the Cambridge Convention on the formation of the Massachusetts Constitution. The tavern was operated by the Colonial and his family from 1795 to the time of his death. It was a popular "Public House" on the intersection of two important roads, the present Woburn Street being the old Colonial highway to New Hampshire.

Wilmington Minutemen headquarters, also located on the property, will be open to the public. The Minutemen have recently renovated the building used as their headquarters.

There will be a Muster, by the Minute Men, and a Flag raising ceremony for all to enjoy, as a part of the Harnden Open House.

Birthdays

The fact was inadvertently overlooked last week, but the Town Crier knows that Eddie Kaizer of Cottage St., Wilmington celebrated his 10th birthday on Valentine's Day.

Also overlooked last week was the fact that John Fairweather of Columbia St., Wilmington who will be old enough to vote on February 22 has a twin sister, Jean who will naturally share his special day. Since it is believed that Jean deserves "Equal billing" it must be said that she too will become old enough to vote on February 22.

Edmund J. Corcoran III of Woburn St., Wilmington will "blow out the candles" for the 26th time on February 21; Dick Tufenkjian, vice president of administration for Sweetheart Plastics will turn another page on February 24; Robin Patterson of McDonald Rd., will be 17 on February 28.

Robin MacDonald of Westdale Ave., Wilmington and George Boudreau of Roosevelt Rd., will be doing something this year they haven't been able to do for four years - they'll be observing birthdays on the exact date - February 29. Robin will be 16; George will be 12.

Although she's been claiming the day slightly longer, Helen Brady of Roberts Rd., Wilmington will have to share her March 1 birthday with Heidi Hatfield of Amos Rd., Tewksbury and Patti Campbell of Boisvert Rd., Tewksbury, both of whom will be celebrating on March 1.

Golden Agers

According to the records at hand three Wilmington Golden Agers will be observing birthdays next week: Elsie Medico of Grove Ave., and Mae Tuffin of Suncrest Ave., both on February 25 and Marion Jodrie of Deming Way on February 26.

Hospitalized

Among the finest neighbors possible, a resident of West Street for over 20 years, Morris Spellman is currently a patient at Winchester Hospital where he was taken under emergency conditions last weekend.

On Wednesday morning it was reported that Mr. Spellman was improving.

Special thanks

A great deal of the kitchen work for Golden Age meetings has been done recently by May Spanks of Main St., Wilmington. In appreciation, members made her the guest of honor at a birthday celebration held at their meeting on February 12. Mrs. Spanks was presented a glowing birthday cake and numerous cards by her friends. She is generally assisted in the kitchen by Mrs. Pottle of Main St.

Marguerite Rossetti and Florence Babine have passed their 80th birthdays and have been awarded life membership badges in the Wilmington Golden Age Club.

School committee hear legislators

The Merrimack Valley Association of School Committees hosted legislative members from Burlington, Bedford, Chelmsford, Billerica, Tewksbury and Methuen at its Second Annual Legislators' Night.

The chief topic of discussion was funding and ways in which the legislature can take some of the tax burden off the towns and their oppressed taxpayers, particularly in state mandated programs.

George Ripson from the Chelmsford School Committee, with help from Dr. Robert Zullo, director of special education, gave a report to the committeemen and legislators on the effects of Chapter 766 on local communities.

All agreed the law is very beneficial for children but costly to the towns, particularly without state funding. Discussion centered around the parts of 766 which have little or nothing to do with education.

Some members of the legislator felt it was the regulations set up by the Department of Education and not the law itself that needs changing.

A report on some bills to be acted upon by the legislature during 1976 was given by Paul Ford of Billerica. Mark Schlick of Westford and Harry Landers of Wilmington, however it is too early for all bills filed to be published.

The Merrimack Valley Association of School Committees will consider all bills dealing with education at its next meeting, scheduled for March 4, in Wilmington, and will forward their comments and recommendations to the legislators for their consideration.

Among the legislators present were Senator Ron McKenna, and representatives Carol Amic from Bedford; Michael McLaughlin from Billerica; Robert Vignean from Burlington; Bruce Freeman from Chelmsford; Nick Bugliose from Methuen; and James Gaffney from Tewksbury. Mr. McLaughlin is also chairman of the Middlesex County Commissioners.

Diana Coste weds Mark Allan

Mint daisy poms, white carnations, pink heather, ivy and pink ribbons adorned St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Burlington for the wedding of Diana Elaine Coste, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Cost of Forest St., Wilmington and Mark R. Allan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edison Allan of Macon Rd., Burlington.

The Rev. Kenneth Ornell performed the one o'clock ceremony and the bride's cousin Mrs. Richard Santos of Winchester enhanced the proceedings with her rendition of "The Lord's Prayer." Organ music was provided by Carolyn Wilcot.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white empire gown, fashioned by her mother and featuring double faced satin, appliques of chantilly lace motifs and seed pearls. Her veil fell from a matching lace cap and was trimmed with lace appliques. She carried a bouquet of pink tea roses, white carnations, German statice and baby's breath.

Brenda Tonks of Aldrich Rd., Wilmington served as maid of honor in a mint green gown featuring an empire waistline and trimmed with Kelly velvet ribbon.

Pauline Swed of Claremont, New Hampshire, cousin of the bride served as bridesmaid as did Toni Coste of Forest St., Wilmington, neice of the bride; Donna Fleming of Aldrich Rd., and Cheryl Vossburg of Methuen, sister of the groom.

The bride's attendants wore Kelley green gowns bearing mint velvet trim and carried baskets of mixed flowers.

Steven Allan of Burlington served his brother as best man while ushering duties were in charge of Robert Coste of Wilmington, brother of the bride; Darryl Allen of Burlington, brother of the groom; Peter O'Rourke of Wilmington and Drew Stevenson of Woburn, cousin of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Andover Country Club where Lynn Allan, sister of the groom circulated the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Coste chose a pink chiffon gown and the mother of the groom was attired in a fern green gown with matching jacket.

For traveling the new Mrs. Allan chose a two piece suit of old rose print with a tunic top.

Following a wedding trip through New Hampshire, the couple is now residing in Melrose.

The new Mrs. Allan was educated at Wilmington High School and is now employed with Keene Lighting of Wilmington.

The groom was educated at Shawsheen Tech and is currently employed as a carpenter with a construction firm in Braintree.

The new office of the Reading Co Operative Bank

AFTER THE FESTIVITIES: The serious business of cutting the ribbon. Hundreds of visitors were at the office of the new building for the Reading Co Operative Bank, last Friday and Saturday.

Tuesday morning a few officials gathered for the very serious business of Cutting the Ribbon.
